A Slide Warning On Mussel Rock

This is a 1970 view of the area near Daly City's Mussel Rock dumpsite

Staff Writer

A "monumental" landslide area — one of the largest in California — has been verified at Mussel Rock Beach by a consulting geologist, who warned the Daly City City Council Monday that the state has mandated that measures be taken to head off a potential major disaster.

The geologist, John V. Lowney, warned that an earthquake along the San Andreas Fault could trigger the slide and spill thousands of tons of dirt and garbage into the Pacific Ocean.

The Daly City Scavenger Co. for many years has used Mussel Rock Beach, which is owned by Daly City, as a refuse dumping area. The city has plans to develop a park on the land fill sometime in the future.

In a report prepared for the council, Lowney also disclosed that smaller landslide areas exist above the major or "primary" one. He said that these secondary slides "may have moved as much as 200 feet laterally over the past five to 10 years" and that continued movement of these upper slopes" will cause further loss of ground near the homes on Skyline Drive, thereby exacerbating an already poor situation."

LOWNEY SAID the primary slide has existed for 100,000 years. He told the council it is one of the most massive slide areas in the state.

Lowney said various state agencies have known of the slide for some time, but only recently learned of its magnitude.

Consequently, the State Water Quality Control Board, Lowney said, is demanding that the city initiate immediate plans to assure that earth and garbage will never slide from Mussel Rock and pollute the ocean.

Lowney and the consulting engineering firm of KCA, asked the council to consider authorizing a $228,000 study to determine the most economical solution to preventing a slide.

Work proposed in the study coincides with that being mandated by the state.

William Chapman, of KCA, explained to the council that during a review of the Mussel Rock Dump Site Master Plan late last year, engineers discovered one element of the plan "that was really lacking."

He said it was apparent to engineers that prior soil testing of the ground below the garbage fill was very shallow and did not penetrate the slide area.

"We became convinced that another soils test was needed. Tests were performed (by Lowney and Associates) and this massive slide was found," said Chapman.

The discovery was alarming, Chapman said, especially since tons of garbage is being poured daily on top of the unstable earth.

CHAPMAN SAID he consulted the Environmental Protection Agency about the slide and refuse at the site, and he said EPA officials

Swine Flu Vaccine Program Ready to Go

Just what San Mateo County residents can expect when they show up at one of 41 locations for swine flu vaccine shots during the last three weekends of this month was explained Friday by Alan Adams, coordinator for the immunization program.

Adams predicted waits of 15 minutes to half an hour, depending on the time of day, the population of the area where a flu shot clinic is situated and whether the person has filled out a registration form prior to arriving at the location.

In an attempt to avoid long lines at clinic registration tables where individuals must sign for the free shots (a federal requirement), the San Mateo County Department of Health and Welfare is making registration forms available prior to start of the program through hospitals, pharmacies and in local newspapers.

Persons are encouraged to read information on the forms concerning the flu, the vaccines used and the special precautions indicated, Adams said. As vaccine recipients leaves the clinic they will be provided reaction information so they may know what minimal reactions may be expected.

Dr. James Bodie, director of the Health Division of the Department of health and Welfare, said that in trial programs, about one per cent of those receiving shots later registered a temperature of more than 100 degrees, and 25 per cent had a sore arm where the shot was administered.

Adams reported that each clinic will average four shot lines. Most of the lines will have medical para-professionals administering shots with needles and syringes. However, the county will have access to eight pneumatic jet injectors which can administer 800 to 1,000 shots an hour.

The flu shots will be given to all persons age 18 and over who desire them, Adams said. Residency is a requirement.

Because more of the vaccine which contains a mixture of the swine flu and the A Victoria strain will be available than expected, the minimum age for senior citizens eligible to receive the vaccine has been lowered from 65 to 60, Adams reported.

The same vaccine also will be use to immunize adults from age 18 and over who have medical conditions which place them in a "high risk" category. The conditions are chronic heart disorders, asthma and diabetes.

Medical researchers are still working to develop a vaccine safe enough for healthy individuals between the agres of 3 and 18. However, a special "split virus" vaccine has been developed for immunization of persons in that age category, Adams said. But that vaccine can be administered only by the person's private physician.

Bodie said that he hopes 100,000 doses of the swine flue vaccine will be available for the first weekend of the immunization program on Oct. 16-17.

The health director said he expects some 250,000 county residents to take advantage of the immunization program.

Adams said that non-medical and medical volunteers are still needed to participate in the program. Non-medical volunteers should contact the Volunteer Bureau Nurses may call the Golden Gate Chapter of the American Red Cross in Burlingame, and physicians may contact the County Medical Society.

Adams expects a total of 2,000 volunteers to participate.

Scores of boxes of swine flu vaccine passed through San Francisco International Airport this week on the way to distribution centers throughout Northern California. County health officials say that perhaps 100,000 doses of the vaccine will be available for the first weekend of the immunization program on Oct. 16 and 17.

Car Hits Girl

DC Father Held After Shots Fired

The enraged father of a 2-year old girl struck by a car in Daly City was arrested Saturday after firing at least three rifle shots at the car involved in the accident.

A Daly City police department spokesman said Christine Reyes, the daughter of Alberto Reyes of 656 Higate Ave. darted into the street between two parked cars in front of the family home at 3:24 p.m.

The girl was hit by a car driven by Steven Kuchac, 22, in which his brother, Timothy, was a passenger, police said. Both live in Daly City.

Reyes came out of the house and, enraged, threatened the lives of the Kuchacs, according to police, went into the house and returned with a rifle.

The authorities said the Kuchacs started to flee when they saw Reyes coming with the weapon. Reyes assertedly fired several shots — three rounds can be accounted for, two of which struck the Kuchac car and one the windshield of an uninvolved approach ing vehicle, police said.

The police said, Reyes took off in his car, and was apprehended a short time later after a short, but high-speed chase, by Daly City Officer James Richardson.

Reyes was booked on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

His daughter is at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, being treated for facial injuries and reported "okay," according to police.

Sofa Catches Fire; Apartment Damaged

An early morning fire that apparently started when a sofa caught fire in a Daly City woman's apartment Monday did about $8,000 damage to the building and its contents, firemen have estimated.

Garbage Bill Changes

South San Franciscans may find some big changes in their monthly garbage bill beginning in January.

At the request of the South San Francisco Scavenger Co., the city council is considering many changes in the franchise agreement.

Under consideration are a rate increase of 54 cents a month, an ordinance which would require service for all South San Francisco businesses and residences, and elimination of a grass clipping pick-up service now provided at city expense.

The new monthly rate of $3.24, up from $2.70, would include an inflation cost of 16 cents since the last increase three years ago and 38 cents for the clipping pick-up service.

Sparking the most concern by the councilmen Monday night was the possible elimination of the clipping service, which traditionally has been provided for South San Franciscans by the city at an annual cost of $28,000.

The company is upping the annual charge to $60,000. Acting City Manager Frank Addiego said the $28,000 was a "token" fee that never really covered the company's cost to provide that service.

The council voted 3-2 in June to discontinue clippings pick-up on Jan 1, with residents paying the cost in their monthly bill from then on.

Councilmen Emanuele Damonte and Dick Battaglia Monday night held to their earlier vote to eliminate the service.

But Councilman William Borba had a change of heart.

Borba, who had voted to eliminate the service entirely, now says the city should pay in $28,000 and bill customers for the remainder.

"Staff should find the money someplace," Borba said. "If they had heeded my warnings in 1972 and 1973, they wouldn't be in this foolish predicament," he added, referring to a barely balanced 1976-77 budget.

"Let the staff go out and find it."

Mayor Leo Padreddii, who had supported continuation of the service, also changed his mind.

He said the cost of the $60,000 service shared among all the city's scavenger customers would not be significant.

Councilman Terry Mirri said he couldn't understand Padreddii's about-face. Mirri held to his earlier stand that the city ought to provide at least the $28,000.

Finance Officer Bill Anderson pointed out that the final 1976-77 budget, to be presented to the council Wednesday, contains a surplus of only $20,000.

There is no money to provide a clipping service, even if the council wanted to, he said.

The move toward mandatory service throughout the

SSF to Clear Smoky Air?

A cloud of smoke at the South San Francisco City Council dais Monday night led to mumblings of an anti-smoking ordinance.

Councilman Terry Mirri, the lone smoker on the council, had just lit up a cigarette 10 minutes into the study session when Councilman Dick Battaglia protested.

Glancing in Mirri's direction, Battaglia suggested something should be done about the smoky air.

"Pass an ordinance," Mirri challenged his fellow councilmen.

"Perhaps we will," Mayor Leo Padreddii responded.

Councilman William Borba suggested putting adoption of an ordinance on the Wednesday night council agenda.

An ordinance would ban smoking in the council chambers at West Orange Avenue Library during meetings.

Adoption of such an ordinance in San Bruno last year raised havoc on the council for several months.

The San Bruno council's only smoker, Tony Governale, protested and refused to douse his cigarettes although he eventually gave in.

The South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees posted signs in its board meeting room prohibiting smoking last year.

advised him to suggest that "all the garbage deposited there over the past 20 years be hauled somewhere else."

"Well, this certainly isn't the solution," Chapman told the council. "Where do you dump 20 years of garbage?"

Lowney explained that the San Andreas Fault has created the slide condition at Mussel Rock. He said pressure from the fault is forcing "tremendous underground reservoirs of water" upward into the primary slide.

The water pockets, he said, are in some places only five to 15 feet below the surface.

Lowney also emphasized that surface water runoff is carrying material from the secondary slides down onto the primary slide, adding still more weight to the loose ground.

THREE METHODS of stabilizing the slide have been identified, according to Lowney.

They include:

* Dewatering the slide area by pumping out the water that the fault is forcing to the surface.

* Unloading the secondary slides to take the pressure off the primary one.

* Constructing a toe berm, or a massive retaining wall at sea level to hold back the earth.

Councilman Victor Kyriakis asked how large of a toe berm would have to be erected, and Chapman replied, "About 10 stories high."

"It could conceivably put the Egyptian pyramids to shame," Chapman added.

Chapman stressed that the berm was one of three alternatives that would be studied. However, he did explain that the state now requires a design life of 1,000 years for any remedial or stabilizing work for a disposal site such as Mussel Rock in which solid waste is saturated.

"THIS REQUIREMENT creates a great deal of problems," said Lowney. "There are really no berm structures which were built 1,000 years ago."

Lowney, however, did indicate that there is certain Northern California riprap that is very durable. The Humboldt Bay jetty, constructed in 1869, he said, reportedly is holding up well after a century of service.

Meetings with the U.S. Corps of Engineers have been held, Lowney said, to learn what information is available from government laboratories on riprap quarry sources and the quality in this area.

"We would suggest no quicky solution to this problem," Chapman told the council.

AND LOWNEY added: "This is a mammoth problem that needs a similar solution to cope with it."

It is expected that the City Council next Monday will authorize an expenditure of some $10,000 to finance an interim surface water runoff project, which the city must begin under WQCB directives.

It was not known Monday how much time the state will allow Daly City to decide on a major slide project study or how the slide discovery will immediately effect dumping at Mussel Rock.

Housing Crisis Bodes Revolt: Tunney

Construction workers of San Mateo County Tuesday told U.S. Sen. John Tunney, D-California, that they couldn't afford to live in the homes that they built.

Tunney, who had stopped on a campaign swing at the San Mateo Union Hiring Hall on B Street, San Mateo, agreed it was a "terrible" situation.

He forecast that if the situation continued whereby only one or two per cent of the people could afford to buy the homes that are being built, a social revolution would be assured.

He urged government spending programs that would put people back to work, and charged the administration with favoring a pool of unemployment from which industry could draw as it needed.

Administration economists should visit the hiring halls regularly, Tunney said, to get the emotional impact of the problem.

The Administration has the view, Tunney said, that the way that you solve the problem of budget deficits causing inflation is to cut back upon spending and thereby deflate the economy.

This, he said, is despite the fact that there is about 30 per cent unused capacity in the economy now.

"If these people were working," Tunney said, "we'd have a balanced budget and it's just going to send the economy spiraling downward to fail to recognize that it is in fact the budget deficits that are causing inflation."

The way that you cure that inflation, Tunney explained, is to "put people to work so that they start paying taxes rather than eating money out of the federal treasury."

"The construction industry is tremendously important to San Mateo," Tunney said. "And construction around the state is tremendously important.

"The fact," he continued, "that the only homes that are being built here are the homes that cost $95,000 means that only about two per cent of the population can afford to buy.

"This is illustrative," Tunney said, "of the tremendous problem that exists.

"It is a social problem, not just a construction problem. If we go very much longer, many more years building homes only for the top one per cent income bracket, you are going to have a social revolution in this country.

"I am telling you," Tunney declared, "that you are going to lose the private capital system. You are going to lose the free enterprise system. You are going to see a federalization or a socialization of this economy.

"I don't want to see that happen. But I am telling you that as long as the policies that are being followed will produce a condition that only the top one per cent of the community can afford to buy homes, you are creating social pressures that are bound to destroy the system that we have because it is not working."

That's why, Tunney said, "I am so much in favor of seeing programs that are designed to stimulate the economy, stimulate construction and stimulate home building so that the average person can afford to buy his own home."

Tunney told the assembly that since Ford became president, 3.6 million people have slipped into poverty. "We've now," he said, "over 25 million people living in poverty."

Another 1.9 million workers this year will run out of their unemployment insurance benefits, Tunney said.

"If you can have an investment tax credit for the plant equipment, there's no reason you can't have a tax credit for the people you hired who have been unemployed for a long time."

People will get money from the government anyhow, he said through unemployment and welfare. What the system does do, he said, is to make the workers "incredibly angry, incredibly apathetic, with a loss of self-confidence as though they were the people responsible for the bankrupt economic policies of the government.

Papan Wants SP to Repay Subsidy

Assemblyman Louis Papan, D-Daly City, has asked State Attorney General Evelle Younger for a legal opinion to determine if the Southern Pacific Railroad is still bound under an 1864 statute to repay a state subsidy given it during the Civil War.

According to Papan, the State Legislature agreed to subsidize the Railroad by paying the interest on 1,500 bonds of $1,000 each for 20 years, in order to help complete the Transcontinental Railroad.

From 1864 to 1885, the State levied an 8 cents per $100 valuation property tax to pay the interest, Papan said. He noted that the State Supreme Court ruled against the State Attorney General who had said the subsidy violated state constitutional limits on funding in a suit brought in 1864.

Southern Pacific never did meet its obligations in the agreement that brought it the subsidy, Papan asserted, although the state paid $105,000 for 20 years.

Papan said that the conditions included transportation of materials for construction of the state Capitol.

This condition is particularly significant, Papan said, because currently, the State is undertaking a $48 million restoration of the State Capitol.

"I have asked the Attorney General to comment on whether this project would be included within the provisions of the 1964 statute," Papan commented.

Papan noted that should the Railroad violate any of the several condition spelled out in the 1864 legislation, it would be required under the act to repay all of the noney the state put in — $2.1 million.

In addition, it would be required to pay compounded interest, he said.

Papan quoted the legislation as saying that the conditions apply "for all times."

Other conditions included free transportation of public messages, convicts to state prison, lunatics to the state insane asylum, articles for exhibition at fairs of the State agricultural society, and all troops and munitions of war of the State of California.

"The irony," Papan said, "is that Southern Pacific officials have testified before the California Public Utilities Commission that it is contrary to the policy of the company to accept subsidies."

In a talk recently before the Millbrae Historical Society, the Daly City legislator declared that "this is a company founded on public subsidies.

"It accepts numerous federal subsidies and lobbies Congress for even more subsidies," Papan asserted.

"They have already asked for the ultimate subsidy — public purchase of the system for over $600 million."

Papan said that the $600 million proposal, like another to buy $6 million worth of motorized vans for commuters if they would stop using the railroad, was a response to hearings of the Assembly's Special Subcommittee on San Francisco Peninsula Rail Commuter Service.

Papan, who chairs the subcommittee, said its hearings have tied up for two years a request made by the Railroad to the California Public Utilities Commission for a 111 per cent fare hike, filed in August, 1974.

During this time, Papan said, the subcommittee has held hearings, audited SP books, subpoenaed top corporate officials, researched the SP history and passed legislation aimed at halting "their irresponsible move to abandon this critical transportation link."

Papan said it was more than just a matter of an "outrageous commuter fare increase.

"The 46.9 miles of track between San Francisco and San Jose holds the key to transportation planning on the Peninsula for the next decade," Papan declared.

"This corridor is critical to whatever transit alternatives the citizens of San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties choose to pursue."

Noting that after forming a Transit District in 1974, this county committed public funds and resources to develop a comprehensive, efficient transportation system, and that Santa Clara followed suit, Papan said that loss of the Southern Pacific alternative service would "leave us with an untenable choice of BART at a cost exceeding a billion dollars or no system at all."

Garbage

city would add 800 residences to the company's monthly billings.

Addiego said those 800 residences now either are taking their garbage to the Colma dump or are dumping illegally in vacant lots.

Scavenger Co. representative George Stagnaro said there is no way to know how many of those people are burying the garbage in their own yards, a possible health hazard.

He said about 98 per cent of the city's businesses already are scavenger customers. They would be included in the mandate.

Councilman Damonte questioned if mandating scavenger pick-up might leave the door open for other city franchises, such as cable television, to request the same privilege.

However, other councilman said garbage involves public health and welfare, while cable television and other services do not.

The council agreed residents should be required to place their garbage cans within eight feet of the curb, eliminating a cost of 35 cents a month for backyard service at each household.

Stagnaro said there would be "limited exceptions" for people who, by doctor's orders, are unable to haul their garbage cans to the curbside.

Staff members also recommended the council approve rate increase to $3.24 this January and an increase to $3.50 the following January.

An increase the third year, if any, would be negotiated in June 1978, Addiego said.

The company, he pointed out, originally had requested an increase to $3.50 and this method would allow a phase-in process.

The council, however balked at the idea, saying an increase should not be granted a year ahead of time.

Addiego said the procedure could actually result in a savings for the city if inflation is less than 25 cents next year.

The council also informally agreed apartment building owners should be billed directly rather than the individual tenants, who often don't pay their bill before they move.

shortly before 9 a.m. Monday, according to the fire department.

Although the cause is still under investigation, firemen said it is probable that the sofa was set afire by the water heater. Ms. Guidi was not at home at the time of the fire.

The fire, which was reported by the apartment building manager, did an estimated $3,000 damage to the building and $5,000 to the contents of the apartment. There was also smoke damage to seven other units in t e building, according to the fire department.

The year of the Jimmy and Jerry show!!

Whatever else the great debates are accomplishing they are changing the style of the presidential campaigns.

Once, candidates of the stamp of Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan rampaged up and down the country. Once, candidates like Adlai Stevenson appeared in the cities and towns of everywhere, "talking sense to the American people." Now candidates polish their lines and shore up their techniques for television appearances.

Upon being nominated, William McKinley retired to his home in Canton, Ohio, and spent the summer receiving delegations of citizens who came to hear pearls of wisdom fall from the lips of the candidate. His predecessor, Benjamin Harrison, was another who stayed home while his henchmen took news releases to the press. Even Abraham Lincoln, although he was pitted against the Vice President and a well-known Senator, stayed home during most of the campaign.

UPON REVEIWING the techniques that have been used during the various presidential campaigns, Jules Abels called the elections "a donnybrook of words, a bedlam of charges, and name-calling." Columnist Emmet John Hughes wrote words of one campaign that many observers apply to all of them: "a ghastly waste of time — as an exercise in public enlightenment, as a debate serious politics or as a testing of the mettle of the President."

After the 1964 campaign, Jules Abels wrote a book entitled "The Degeneration of Our Presidential Election," (available through public libraries) in which he outlined the campaigns of the past. In the days of Jefferson and Madison the candidates issued pamphlets that were read and discussed in all parts of the country. Songs and slogans were used to elect an unknown governor of Tennessee named James K. Polk, even though his opponent was Henry Clay, the most noted Senator in the country.

Buttons, broadsides and posters were added to the slogans to elect such men as James A. Garfield and Grover Cleveland. Radio was a tool for Roosevelt, Wilkie and Eisenhower. Harding loved to appear before audiences who enjoyed his performance. Since the Kennedy-Nixon campaign of 1960, fast jet-plane appearances have reduced the country to a few hours of travel time and two and a half minute talks. Now television rules the candidates.

THINKING OF AMERICA'S presidential campaign Mr. Abels quotes Walter Lippman who said, "The time may be coming when men will look back with amazement and distaste upon the crudity, the coarseness, the fakery and the phoniness of our partisan political behavior."

All the campaigning, writes Rexford Tugwell, is of little value. After the 1964 election he wrote, "The lesson ought to have been learned from earlier contests. The voting would have been almost exactly the same at the beginning as at the end of the campaigns and no conceivable tactics could have chanted the result." In his book "How They Became President" — (Scribners 1965) Tugwell calls for new techniques and new approaches in electing "our president."

Rockhounds Show Off Gems in DC

"Rocks Aren't What They're Cut Up To Be" will be the general theme of the booth to be set up by the Daly City Rockhounds (a non-profit organization) for the Community Bazaar to be held at the Serramonte Shopping Center Oct. 9 and 10.

On exhibit will be a case displaying the many interests of rockhounding: collecting geodes, fossils, minerals; carving; making jewelry; creating mountings for stones; as well as various other items to bedazzle the center's many shoppers.

Rockhounding is a fascinating hobby and one that is increasing each year as families and individuals "take to the hills" in campers, tents, and recreational vehicles, and take on hobbies which the whole family can enjoy and the individual can participate in as well.

Some of the Daly City Rockhounds will be manning the booth at the Bazaar and will answer questions about this growing hobby.

The event will precede the Twelfth Annual Gem and Mineral Show to be held at the Westlake Park Community Center, 149 Lake Merced Blvd., Daly City, on Oct. 16 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Oct. 17 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Donation at the show is $1. Children under 12 are free when accompanied by an adult.

Sign-ups for Elf Market Are Asked

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department is starting to take applications for booths at the Elf Market.

Each community organization can sign up to have a booth to sell Holiday items, gifts or decorations which have been made by the members of the group. The cost of the booth is $5.

Proceeds will go to the organizations selling items. The one stipulation on the sale of items is that all funds must be used for some charitable project of the organization.

If your organization is interested in taking part in the Elk Market, please contact the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department for an application.

This activity is open to Pacifica organizations only. Booths will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. As applications come in they will be given a selection number.

You'll have to wait until Oct. 16 when one of the candidates — Lourdes Hernandez, Nancy Velez, Theresa Rivera and Annette Muniz — will be selected Queen Isabel IV by the Holy Angels Latin Club. Not pictured is Connie Baca. With them is a co-founder of the club, Nemer J. Gonzalez, who will be chairman of the crowning.

SPINAL PROBLEMS
AFFECT YOUR TOTAL HEALTH

You can have spinal distortion and not even know it. Such a hidden structural problem in your spine can cause seemingly unrelated troubles to appear elsewhere in your body. Functional disorders of the body's organs often occur because your spinal nerve roots, which control and regulate your organs, become irritated whenever the backbone is twisted out of proper alignment. Symptomatic treatment of the distant complaint seldom brings expected results because the underlying cause lies undetected and uncorrected in the spine. If you are not being helped by symptomatic treatments, don't give up hope. Have a spinal check-up to be sure that a hidden spinal problem doesn't exist which would mar your health. Here are 33 reasons . . .

. . . WHY YOU MAY NEED A SPINAL CHECK-UP NOW . . .

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

San Bruno Committee: Keep All Schools Open

By RICK SULLIVAN

An ad hoc committee of the San Bruno School District will recommend to the board of trustees that no school be closed because of declining enrollment, at least during the next three school years.

It was learned that the Ad Hoc Committee to Study the Possibility of Closing a School approved the recommendation unanimously this week and voted to present it to the trustees at its Oct. 18 board meeting.

If the board accepts the recommendation, and it is expected that it will, all seven elementary schools and two intermediate schools will continue to operate through the 1978-79 school year.

Last November the board agreed to establish the committee to study enrollment patterns at each school and to determine which if any school should be closed to save the district money.

The committee was remanded to submit a recommendation to the board by the following November.

The board action was viewed as a conciliatory measure to dispel rumors that a certain neighborhood school had already been earmarked by the district administration for closing.

Before the committee was formed, parents of children attending one school began attacking the negative aspects of other schools in an effort to force the board to find one school more deserving of closure than another.

The committee's recommendation is the product of some 10 months of study. Committee members, including representatives of school PTAs, the City Council, the local taxpayers association and teacher groups, examined the history of enrollment at each school and studied current state law concerning school closure.

"While recognizing that there is a declining enrollment trend in this district, we decided that there are certain options open to the board to earn revenue from empty classrooms, rather than closing an entire school," one committee source said.

State legislation, to go into effect Jan. 1, allowing school districts to lease empty classrooms to other than education-related enterprises chiefly precipitated the committee's recommendation, it was learned.

The committee also recognized that if a school was closed and subsequently sold, money from the sale would have to pay off a state school building loan; and there would be no direct financial relief to the district.

One committee member said subcommittees were formed and met about 20 times during the past 10 months to discuss what the impact on the district would be should any one of the schools be closed.

Subcommittees gauged the capacity of any one school to absorb students from a closed school, what the community responses to closure would be and how students would react to such a move.

It was learned that during the first several meetings of the committee representatives of various school PTAs fought vigorously to protect their schools from being closed. A harmonious relationship developed later when it became more apparent that other alternatives existed to closing a school.

The future of the 14-member ad hoc committee is at this point unclear.

The board had voted to dissolve the committee once a recommendation was presented, but recent state legislation makes it mandatory for a district to form a community committee to advise the board on the disposition of empty schools or classrooms.

According to the law, the committee must be comprised of not less than seven and not more than 11 members. The committee must be representative of the socio-economic composition of the district; the business community; landlords and renters; teachers and administrators; parents of students; and persons with expertise in environmental impact, legal contracts, building codes and land use planning.

Opera at De Anza

The magic of opera is coming alive this fall with De Anza College presenting four different programs spotlighting the San Francisco Opera season.

The color and humor of Gioacchino Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" will be explored in a noncredit short course entitled, "Seville in San Francisco." Focusing on this lively opera favorite, the course will include a trip to San Francisco to attend the fall production of the Rossini masterpiece by the San Francisco Opera Company.

Students will first attend an on-campus prelecture covering the background of the opera. Following the trip to San Francisco, a lecture on the campus will compare notes and discuss the performance. The lectures will be offered Nov. 5 and 19, while the San Francisco Opera performance is scheduled for Nov. 17.

A program offered under Music 6 this Fall will discuss all 11 operas in this season's repertoire: "Tosca," "Thais," "Die Walkure," La Forza del Destino," "Peter Grimes," "Die Frau ohne Schatten," "The Makropulos Case," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "I Pagliacci," "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" and a new opera commissioned for the bicentennial, "Angle of Repose." Backstage tours and talks with members of the company will be included.

The class meets in 12 Tuesday night sessions now through Dec. 14 at 8:15 p.m.

In another opera program at De Anza this Fall, renowned opera and literary personalities will give five lecture on several San Francisco opera productions of this season.

The two will also paint your face at the fesitval and you can be photographed instantly by Sam Mannina and his committee. Other events will include a dunking machine, a music-minded record booth and arts and crafts. The festival will be on the church grounds. Proceeds will go into the church's building fund. ## Officers For Club Elected

Alex Gavidia has been elected to the office of president of the Publications Club at Southwood Junior High School by the club's members.

The other officers elected at the first meeting were: Becky Barras, vice-president; Kathy Chamberlain, secretary; and Lucy Bachtold, treasurer.

Dues for the club were set at this meeting and are $1 per semester. The members also decided that their first outing was to be a horse ride Oct. 2.

Future activities for the club members include an ice skating party, a trip to Great American Park, a bowling party, a trip to the Santa Cruz beach and a roller skating party.

This club will once again be advised by W. J. Maher. The club is in its tenth year of existence and it appears that it will once again be an active year for the members.

Nightfall Scene Proves Pacifica Council Downfall

Irate Pacifica residents crowded the City Council chambers to protest a cutback in street lights throughout the city.

They convinced the council to take a night-time tour of the city and reconsider the money-saving measure.

The City Council, during its budget hearings, had discussed the street lighting cutback and sought public opinion.

Except for a few curious residents concerned about the light on their particular streets, there were few public comments.

However, when the lighting cutback went into effect a month ago, public opinion against the measure emerged.

"It is the feeling of the citizens that the monies reportedly saved do not justify the grief the action has brought," resident Kenneth Kirby told the council Monday night.

Kirby said some residents have been living in fear since the lights were turned out in their neighborhoods.

"If an area is well lighted, you are better able to see someone in case of attack," Kirby said. "This creates an aura of apprehension that could deter the would-be assailant or thief."

Residents who lined up at the podium also protested the abuse of lights at the city's new tennis courts.

They pointed out that while lighting was cut back in the neighborhoods, the tennis court lights stay on during the night and on rainy days when no one is using the courts.

Kirby said the lights should be operated on a "pay-as-you-play" basis with players dropping coins into a machine to keep them on.

Kirby listed several alternatives to an outright blackout of street lights in some neighborhoods.

One suggestion was to convert the entire system to a less luminous bulb, decreasing the wattage from 175 to 100.

Councilman Stan Farber asked why the city's own staff didn't propose such a measure much earlier.

Mayor Janice Fulford said the council had considered turning on the lights later in the evening and out earlier in the morning but learned they are operated on a "light-sensor system."

It was Councilman Nick Gust who suggested a tour of the city to see if the complaints are, indeed, legitimate.

"Every house in Pacifica would like a light, but we can't do that," Gust said.

Census-takers for Pacifica Needed

A special census of population and housing units will be taken in Pacifica beginning Oct. 19.

All persons interested in being enumerators for the census should get an application from the Personnel Office at Pacifica City Hall, 170 Santa Maria Avenue.

The counting will take from 10 days to two weeks. During this short period, enumerators should be willing to work at least six hours per day, to do some evening work and to work all day one Saturday in order to contact those families that are not at home during weekdays.

Enumerators will receive $2.75 per hour. Those selected as crew leaders, after testing, will be paid $3 per hour.

Additional information can be obtained by calling City Hall at (415) 355-4151, extension 22.

Visitors Panel Notes Success

San Mateo County Convention and Visitors Bureau is proving a "fantastic success," according to its president.

Joseph Geller told an overflow dinner meeting at Charley Brown's restaurant in Redwood City last Tuesday that visitor business is the county's second largest industry.

By the end of this year, he said, 142,199 persons will have visited San Mateo County, bringing $189 million of "new money."

Hotel and motel reservations are up 47 per cent, and while this year has been "fantastic," 1977 promises to be even better, Geller said.

"So far, 34,950 committed reservations are already on the books for 1977, and we are booking business into 1981."

Geller said the Convention and Visitors Bureau is a 24-hour operation 365 days a year, with a staff of six who solicit conventions and meetings and assist conventioneers.

He and John Steen, executive director, commended several public figures for assistance in keeping employe conventions within the county, and in bringing groups they are members of into the county.

The meeting was attended by a crowd reported at more than 400, including members of the convention bureau, city and county politicians, hotel operators and restaurateurs.

Hassler Park Site Ideas Being Sought

By LIN DAY

The seven-member board of directors of the Mid-Peninsula Regional Park District Wednesday night voted unanimously to hold a special meeting the morning of Oct. 31 at the 297-acre Hassler property on the western perimeter of San Carlos.

Board Chairman Nonette Hanko invited all San Carlans, the public in general, and the press in particular to accompany the directors in a walk about the site of the former Hassler Health Home.

The group will gather at 10 a.m. at the San Carlos City Hall parking lot and proceed in a caravan to Hassler, located off Edgewood Road near Route 280, it was agreed.

The action of the board Wednesday brought new dimensions to the matter of the disposition of the property and to the future of the two-county environmental district, formed in 1972 to purchase and maintain open space areas in the Peninsula foothills and along the Bayside marshlands.

Only 48 hours earlier, sitting in the same chairs, the San Carlos City Council had voted 3-1 to seek de-annexation from the Mid-Peninsula District, joining Redwood City and Atherton in the action.

Councilman James Kilburg had led the de-annexation fight, citing that only George Seager (former San Carlos mayor) represents the city on the seven-member regional park board, that he also must represent Redwood City, and that five members come from Santa Clara County.

It had been Kilburg's contention that with only $150,000 a year in tax money being paid in by San Carlans to the district, the Santa Clara-oriented directors would not be too interested in spending the $2 million-plus price for the Hassler property, currently owned by the City of San Francisco.

San Francisco, according to authorities, is reported willing to negotiate a sale to San Carlos, whose citizens had voted a special tax override to buy Hassler. But the question has been: Where would San Carlos get the $2 million?

Kilburg appeared again Wednesday night, this time in the audience as an interested citizen, while Seager occupied the same chair on the rostrum occupied by Kilburg two nights earlier.

Kilburg raised the same questions he had previously raised. This time he got some answers.

Mrs. Hanko used the word "delighted" in discussing Hassler. A San Mateo native (the former Nonette Close) who was graduated from Burlingame High School before moving to Santa Clara County with her husband, she said she had been on the Hassler grounds.

All of the board made it clear they worked as a group and were not concerned with attempting to purchase property in ratio to sectional tax returns or interests. All of the properties purchased belong to all of the people of the Mid-Peninsula Regional Park District, Director Katherine Duffy said.

"It has not been our policy to allocate funds to cities according to income," Mrs. Hanko said. "We are regional.

"We have borrowing power cities do not have," she continued.

Harry Turner, the other San Mateo County representative, added, "This year our budget from tax revenues is $2.1 million. We have the borrowing power to commit another million dollars. If Hassler is selected we would have the financial ability . . ."

Turner pointed out that, whereas the district, in its four years has acquired more than $6 million worth of properties for open space, San Mateo has not had the benefit of the open space program (the south county area was voted in this June), "so that there is some catch-up to be done."

Kilburg asked, "Is it conceivable that other members of the district board may say 'Wait a minute?'"

Turner answered, "All actions of this board have been unanimous."

"Are you in a position to give me or the citizens a commitment?"

Turner said, "You have seen our policy as regional. The next move is to the facts."

The suggestion to tour the property came from Richard Bishop,a San Carlan and member of the Sierra Club. Bishop told of the 10-cent levy voted by San Carlans a few years ago and the history of being unable to obtain San Mateo County funding. He said he hoped to be able to change the attitude of the City Council on de-annexation.

"I have seen the land," Mrs. Hanko responded. "When you say 'wooded canyon' I am inspired." She turned to the board and asked "How does the board feel?"

Director Barbara Green asked if it would need to be a special meeting, since all the board would be present. She was told it would.

The board nodded its agreement. "It's close to Route 280; that is convenient for us," said Ms. Green.

Someone noted that Oct. 31 is Halloween.

"We'll be home by dark," said Bishop.

Also appearing before the board was the former Brisbane mayor, Councilman Anya Miller, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee in the preparation of the parks and recreation element of the San Mateo general plan.

Mrs. Miller invited the close coordination and cooperation of the district with the county planning effort, stressing that it is a major movement to eliminate duplication of services and the use of tax money.

The board assured her of its desire for cooperation and Turner told of meetings with south county officials toward the same goal.

LAFCO to Wait for Broadmoor Election

The outcome of the Nov. 2 Broadmoor Police Protection District tax rate election may indicate what action the County Local Agency Formation Commission takes in recommending on a proposal to annex 130 acres of unincorporated Colma to Daly City.

Action on the annexation proposal was continued to the commission's Nov. 17 meeting recently after Commissioner William H. Royer said the outcome of the tax increase proposal "could be vital to the (annexation) decision."

Daly City is seeking annexation of the area. City Atty. Albert E. Polonsky, speaking on behalf of Daly City Mayor Anthony Giammona, said the city council feels the annexation proposal should be put before the voters.

Ted C. Kirschner, a commissioner of the Colma Fire Protection District, which provides fire protection to the unincorporated area, expressed his "firm stand against any and all annexation."

"It won't upgrade the fire and police protection in any way," Kirschner insisted. "We can send more men to each fire than Daly City can. We don't need Daly City, and don't want Daly City."

Kirschner said that in just two days he was able to secure the signatures of 200 of the 309 registered voters in the unincorporated area on a petition opposing annexation.

Wayne Johnson, a commissioner of the Broadmoor Police Protection District, contended that "Daly City can't offer any more than what we already have, except lower garbage collection rates."

Colma Mayor Fred Garbini expressed his opposition to the annexation proposal, stating he is concerned mostly about what would happen to the 32 firemen employed by the fire protection district.

Royer proposed postponing the decision until after voters in the Broadmoor Police Protection District decide on the Nov. 2 ballot proposal to increase the financially beleaguered district's tax levy.

Board Doesn't Hear Subsonic Noise

Action by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors on whether to support legislation which would provide funding to reduce noise of subsonic aircraft was postponed last week until the board has the recommendations of the Airport Land Use Committee (ALUC) and the San Francisco Airport Commission.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. proposed endorsing the federal bill which would provide $300 million a year from 1977 through 1980 to retrofit planes to meet Federal Aviation Administration noise standards for subsonic aircraft.

San Bruno City Councilman Gary Mondfrans was present to urge support of the legislation.

Supervisor Jean Fassler said she personally supports the bill, but feels that the board needs input from ALUC.

Mondfrans said he had given a copy of the bill (HR 14027) to the commission two months ago, but had received no response.

In its action, scheduling consideration of the matter for its Oct. 5 meeting, the board requested a "prompt response" from the ALUC, as well as review by the Airport Commission.

Developer: Shopping Center Endangered

Developer Tom Callan admonished the South San Francisco City Council Wednesday night for delaying and possibly jeopardizing a $13.5 million shopping center.

It is estimated that the project — to be situated on the extension of Gellert Boulevard — would bring in $309,000 in taxes annually to South San Francisco.

But Callan, who developed the city's Westborough subdivision, said he's not even sure if nationally known K-Mart stores is still interested in a Gellert site.

Callan's calm but stern speech was made at a joint meeting of the City Council and the Planning Commission.

The council has said it will contribute $123,240 to extend Gellert and allow for the shopping center construction — providing Callan proves he has secured a major national retail store with an annual sales volume of at least $10 million.

Last week, the council reaffirmed that stand by halting in mid-stream an environmental impact report and preliminary steps to annex county-and Daly City-owned lands.

Until Callan lives up to his end of the bargain, the councilmen have no intention of letting the project proceed.

However, they listened with interest as Callan told them Wednesday night there won't be a project unless he's permitted to carry out certain preliminary activities.

Prospective tenants for the 13 buildings, he said, are unwilling to sign any kind of a lease agreement until they are assured the Gellert Boulevard extension will be a reality.

No road, no tenants — It's as simple as that, he said.

"Someone must give some firm commitment to these tenants," Callan said.

He said he had asked K-Mart representatives in Detroit to send the city a letter explaining their position.

K-Mart said they have no interest in getting involved in controversies and they can easily develop elsewhere.

"There are other sites outside this city they are looking at that they can go to right now," Callan said.

He said one of the reasons the City of Colma is talking with South San Francisco about gravity sewage flow is because of a possible shopping center in their city that could include K-Mart.

He said annexation of the lands involved cannot occur until the EIR is certified.

Even a major restaurant which had said with certainty that it would move into the Gellert Center is having second thoughts, he said.

The Black Angus restaurant chain, he said, has put the project on its backburners.

"I don't even know, very frankly, what's going in on that land tonight," Callan said.

He also objects to a City Council and Planning Commission position that the area be zoned Planned Unit Development so it must be developed as a single project.

Before Callan's reprimand, the council discussed its own position.

"We stopped everything," he said. "All we are going to do is to delay revenue coming into this city."

Roseanne Emerson, a resident on the Daly City side of Gellert Boulevard, criticized the council for making the Planning Commission postpone the EIR public hearing after it was advertised.

About eight residents attended the meeting Tuesday night to speak on the EIR.

She said there's no communication between Daly City and South San Francisco concerning this project.

"Neither one talks," she said. "Each one is after their own pockets."

The council said it will decide at its Oct. 6 meeting precisely what direction to take with the Gellert extension and shopping center.

However, Padreddii, who was in the minority, called the council's action unjust.

Councilman Terry Mirri said the city staff ought to listen to the council more attentively and head its direction. The EIR and other steps should not have been scheduled in view of the council's earlier direction, he added.

Photogs Seminar

Nine of the world's top photojournalists will speak and answer questions at a daylong seminar, the 19th annual National Press Photographers Association Flying Short Course Saturday, Oct. 23, at San Francisco State University.

Also on the "faculty" are Steve Raymer, National Geographic photographer who won the title of NPPA's Magazine Photographer of the Year, and Eddie Adams, Time magazine photographer who has won NPPA's highest photojournalism award, the Joseph A. Sprague Memorial Award.

The seminar will be held at the McKenna Theater on the San Francisco State campus from 8 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Registration begins at 7:15 a.m. The theater is at 1600 Holloway St. in the School of Creative Arts.

On display during the day will be cameras and gear from leading photographic equipnent companies, with exhibitors including Canon, Olympus, Nikon, Kodak, Vivitar and Minolta.

An advance registration fee of $17.50 is charged, with NPPA members admitted at $12.50, and military and students at $10. A fee of $2.50 is added for registration after Oct. 8. Reservations may be made simultaneously for a $3 luncheon.

SSF Board Accepts Classroom Teachers

After a summer-long delay, the South San Francisco Classroom Teachers Association was recognized Wednesday night by the Board of Trustees as the official bargaining unit for more than 500 teachers.

The board voted 4-1 to adopt a resolution that will allow negotiations under collective bargaining to get underway.

Trustee John Dillon voted no, saying he felt uncomfortable with some of the wording in the resolution.

CTA president John Heron is scheduled to present the teachers' negotiation packet, including their request for a salary increase, to the board on Oct. 13.

Negotiations were halted in March when the Board of Trustees and the CTA got bogged down in a dispute over substitute teachers.

The district says substitute teachers do not belong in the CTA's negotiations but the teachers' union says they do.

That dispute is now under consideration by the Educational Employment Relations Board.

In the meantime, substitute teachers will be included from negotiations.

After the CTA presents its package, a public response time is permitted. Then, the board must present its own proposal and gain allow for public response.

Actual negotiations are not expected to begin until late November.

Dillon said he didn't feel he could vote yes or no because of ambiguities concerning "temporary teachers."

However, after the meeting, Brincat said there are at least two conditions — installation of a ventilation system and painting booths — he does not intend to meet.

Councilman Emanuele Damont said that before the city puts up money for a road, it should know exactly what businesses are going in.

THE TIMES
THE DAILY BARGAIN

If you're going to spend money advertising, advertise where you get the most for your money.

Everyday millions of women look into a closet full of clothes and say, "I haven't a thing to wear." There's nothing wrong with that, particularly if you're in the women's wear business. But how do you get them from the closet into your store?

Surveys show that most of these same women are also looking into the newspapers for the latest information on fashions and styles before they buy. In fact, 9 out of 10 women readers follow newspaper fashion ads every single day.

"Looking" is one thing. Buying is another.

When shoppers were asked where they find the facts when they're ready to put down their money and buy, 3 out of 4 said, "Ads in newspapers."

The point is women shop twice for the clothing they buy. First in the newspapers and then in the stores. So if you're in the retail women's wear business, your best buy in advertising is through your local paper. It's the most effective way to reach the most women. And the most inexpensive. Department stores know it works. Most spend 77% of their advertising budgets in papers.

Newspapers, "The Daily Bargain." Use it. And you'll spend your money where it does the most good.

Defense Wins For Camino

SAN FRANCISCO — El Camino High's 10-7 non-league football victory over previously undefeated host St. Ignatius Prep registered 9.9 on the upset scale Friday.

St. Ignatius, now 3-1, is a perennial power in the West Catholic Athletic League, and is always highly regarded (some say too highly) by grid sages in the City. The Wildcats were objects of near-reverence among prep football fans in the metropolis, even after last week's narrow 14-12 win over South San Francisco.

El Camino, on the other hand, looked horrible in its opening loss to San Carlos. However, considering last week's victory over tough Capuchino and Friday's shocker over SI, Camino now appears to be a team to be reckoned with.

"This game has got to be a big confidence builder for us. Hopefully it will give us the momentum we need going into our league opener," said first-year Coach Lonnie Beckenhauer.

"We knew we had a good shot going into this game. This was a big challenge and I'm extremely happy that the kids played this well. There's no doubt that we were up against an excellent football team."

In all fairness, it should be mentioned that the Wildcats were missing two starting running backs. But even at full strength, SI might not have found the going easy against a rock-hard Colt defensive unit. El Camino allowed no first downs on the ground until the fourth quarter.

Mike Nickas' 26 yard field goal for Camino was the only score for either team until midway through the final quarter. Then came what appeared to be the game-breaker for St. Ignatius.

SI's Dan Hurley returned a punt 93 yards score, giving the Wildcats a 7-3 lead with just over six minutes remaining.

"We actually out-kicked our coverage on that particular play," said Beckenhauer. "It was a nice run."

El Camino, though, was not to be denied.

Danny O'Regan took the ensuing kickoff on his own 18 and returned the ball to midfield. From there El Camino ploughed 50 yards in 10 plays with Dennis Cowen blasting off left guard for the score from two yards out.

Key plays in that series were an 18-yard run by O'Regan and a 17-yard scamper by Cowen following a third-and-eight situation from the SI 30 yard line.

"The kids had worked hard for this game and they didn't want to see it slip away following that punt return," Beckenhauer said.

Beckenhauer praised offensive coordinator Tom Davis for his play-calling in El Camino's scoring drive. He also complimented O'Regan, an offensive and defensive hero, and linebacker Mark Renz, who recovered a fumble and had one of four Colt interceptions.

Cowen led all ground-gainers with 61 yards on 22 carries. Camino rushers outgained SI 115 to 14. The Colts also held an edge in total offense, 149 to 89.

Cap Upsets Warriors

By JOHN MURPHY

Capuchino High receiver Tom Simenc didn't touch the ball very much Friday night at South San Francisco High's Clifford Field.

But Simenc made good on most of his opportunities to score three touchdowns in Cap's 34-22 upset win over non-league host South City.

Simenc (5-11, 150) caught only two passes all game from Mustang quarterback Ken Van Egmond. Unfortunately for SSF, those aerials were both good for touchdowns. Simenc also added a 90-yard kickoff return which provided Cap's go-ahead score in the first quarter.

An uneventful defensive battle exploded into a flurry of scoring plays late in the opening period.

Cap drew first blood when junior halfback Efrim Brown took an option pitch from Van Egmond and scored from two yards out with 5:12 left in the first period. Brown's TD was set up eight plays earlier by Mike Schmidt's interception on the Warrior 29 yard line.

South City struck quickly on its ensuing possession. Operating on second down from his own 33, Warrior QB Karl Young spotted receiver Glen Kramer open over the middle. Young's pass was deflected into Kramer's hands by Simenc, and the Warrior end dashed into the end zone completing a 67-yard pass play.

With the score tied 6-6, Simenc took the Warrior kickoff on his own 10-yard line. He sprinted straight up the middle, was spun around by one tackler and continued untouched to paydirt. Van Egmond's conversion pass attempt failed and the "Tapas led 12-6.

Mark McCloud's fumble recovery set up Cap's third score early in the second quarter. The Mustang's took possession on the SSF 13 and scored in two plays. Fullback Mike Jenkin's capped the short drive with a zig-zagging eight-yard run off right tackle. Van Egmond's PAT run made it 20-6.

SSF, with the aid of three 15-yard penalties, came right back to score. Halfback Tom Bernal completed a seven-play, 72-yard drive with a six-yard scoring burst. Asa Hilliard's PAT run closed the Mustangs' lead to six with nine minutes remaining in the second period.

That was as close as the Warriors would get the rest of the evening.

Simenc's two TD receptions — a seven-yard catch near the end of the half and a 12-yard grab to open the third period — finished South City.

The Warriors did score once more, but long after the issue had been decided. Reserve QB Dave Stalker moved SSF well in that series, hitting on two first down completions before finding Jerry Selvitella on a four-yard scoring strike with 1:19 left.

Cap's aggressive offensive line cleared the way for Jenkins, who picked up 145 yards on 24 carries. The Mustangs totaled 183 yards rushing and 210 overall.

Hilliard highlighted South City's effort with 77 yards on 13 carries.

Capuchino is now 2-1, South San Francisco is 0-2-1.

But Barely
Oceanans Triumph

Oceana High's football team, the preseason North Peninsula League title favorite, had to rely on an unrelenting defense to edge visiting Aragon 7-6 in a non-league game Friday.

The win gave Oceana a 2-0-1 non-league record; Aragon dropped to 1-2. Next Friday Oceana opens NPL play at Serramonte while Aragon hosts defending Mid-Peninsula League champion San Mateo.

Unsure footing, a slippery football and jolting defense kept most of the action between the 20 yard lines.

Oceana scored on a 70-yard march in the second period. Quarterback Dave Hinds capped the drive on a beautifully executed 16-yard play-action pass to Bob Silicani. Rich Homer kicked the point for the eventual margin of victory.

Aragon was held in check for 45 minutes by a solid, hard-hitting Shark defense. But late in the fourth quarter Eric Rojko picked off a Hinds pass, giving the Dons great field position at the Shark 30.

Later, on a clutch fourth-and-six last-chance play, Don quarterback Sid Williams fired a 26-yard strike to Rojko for a score. On the two-point conversion attempt Williams rolled to the right, but a fierce rush forced a hurried pass which fell incomplete.

Oceana Coach Bill Gray wasn't entirely pleased. "We didn't underestimate Aragon," he said. "We just over-estimated ourselves. We had some breakdowns in discipline and they will have to be taken care of before the league opener."

Hinds completed seven of 13 passes for 109 yards. Randy Swayne led Shark rushers with 48 yards in 11 carries. "Some people have been saying Oceana isn't anything," he noted. "We're out to prove we're something."

Aragon running back Bob Pyne, who gained 245 yards last week, picked up 73 yards in 16 carries.

"We'll be ready for the opener Friday," said Aragon Coach Dick Breaux, "but offensively we need some consistency. Sid is improving every week; he's smart, and reads the defense well."

Westmoor High's football team, led by the accurate arm of quarterback Jack Dorn and an impenetrable defense, defeated visiting Crestmoor 27-0 Friday in the final non-league game for both teams.

Dorn, who went the whole way, completed 17 of 25 passes for 190 yards, while the Ram defense held the Falcons to six yards in total offense.

Crestmoor, a young team, has been hit hard by injuries. Tackle Mark Allen joined senior line stalwart Jim Cook on the sidelines this week.

The Falcons held Westmoor scoreless until 0:17 remained in the first quarter, when Ram running back Mike McLennan tallied on a 10-yard-run.

The Rams scored twice more in the first half. Senior John Smith capped a 60-yard drive with a 10-yard scoring reception and McLennan found paydirt again on another 10-yard run for a 20-0 halftime advantage.

Westmoor ended scoring with a 40-yard, three-play drive in the fourth quarter. Dorn went 10 yards up the middle to finish things off.

Crestmoor (0-1-2) opens its Mid-Peninsula League season next Friday night against Mills and Westmoor (2-1) opens Friday night against South San Francisco.

Terra Nova's Tigers Beat by Burlingame

By TIM MENICUTCH
Correspondent

Combining a stingy defense and an adequate offense, Burlingame High's football team completed its non-league schedule undefeated, edging winless Terra Nova 12-7 Friday night in Pacifica.

The Burlingame stoppers held the Tigers to 59 yards rushing and 170 yards total offense. For the second straight week A.J. McElroy and Dan Williams were standouts.

Offensively, quarterback Rusty McDowell, recovered sufficiently from the flu to complete nine of 14 passes, compile 153 yards and toss for two touchdowns.

Terra Nova's defense keyed on hard-hitting runningback Byron Hawkins, leaving McDowell unattended to chalk up 60 more yards on the ground. Underrated back Jeff Falk added 60 more on 11 carries. The keying Tiger defense did their job on Hawkins, holding him to minus 13 yards.

The Panthers paddled through the puddles to draw blood on their second possession. Following a Terra Nova punt, McDowell found Hawkins wide open for a 44-yard touchdown pass.

In the second quarter the run-oriented Tigers caused jaws to drop when quarterback Darryl Fazzio heaved a 77-yard scoring pass to Mike Mooney, who made a sensational over-the-shoulder grab. Rainer Binsfeld's extra point gave Terra Nova a 7-6 lead.

With only 3:25 remaining in the half, Burlingame stormed back, traveling 68 yards in seven plays. McDowell ended the drive with a 30-yard pass which Brian Peagler dove for and, with arms outstretched, hauled in.

Midway through the final period Burlingame was attempting to put the clincher on the board when a crunshing tackle caused a fumble which Rick Burr pounced on to give the Tigers a final chance for victory.

Fazzio connected with Mooney on a crucial third down play and then again on a must fourth down. Putting Terra Nova on the Burlingame 30. Gutsy running by backs Mike Kremesec and Jeff Bartizal moved the ball to the 18. But Burlingame's defense suddenly rose to the occasion. The Tigers were held on two runs, and then on a defensive play Dave Benson deflected a would-be scoring pass.

On the do-or-die fourth down play, the Panthers' Gene Condon completed a brilliant night by sacking Fazzio.

Polak Dominates Adult Tennis League Tourney

The first-time offering of the Pacifica Adult "B" Division for advanced tennis players was held this year with Peter Polak dominating the play.

In the final match, Peter met Max Tellez in a very fine three-set match. Both players displayed excellent tennis skills, with Peter Polak outlasting Max by keeping the ball in play and hitting some fine offensive lobs for winners.

The "C" Division was the largest grouping of players this year with 23 participants. This year's winning player in the "C" classification was Jeff Morganti.

Jeff, a participant in many Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department-sponsored sports activities, added to his recent championship title in the mixed doubles tourney, with his first singles title.

Jeff played a very difficult final match versus Charlis Smithson, which went the limit in the best of three set match, each to 21 points.

Charlie Smithson, the runner-up in "C's", came back after a tough semi-final match and played some super tennis; yet he was put back by scores of 21-16, 17-21 and 21-19.

In semi-final action, Morganti was simply too tough for Steve Lunn, who played gutsy tennis all day long. Charlie Smithson defeated Ed Xavier in a very long and grueling three-set match.

Quarter-final action saw Morganti best Evan Slater; Steven Lunn defeated Dave Marland in a terrifying played match on both sides; Smithson downed Jerry Cattano; and Ed Xavier outlasted Robert Lee.

The Consolation Winner in the "C" Division was John Mehl. John defeated Steve Thomas and played the long route through the brackets and coming out on top.

The Woman's "C" Division was a combined effort of both "C" and "D" level tennis players. All the women displayed good tennis skills and should serve as excellent examples of the tennis abilities which local women exhibit.

Lynn Weston was declared the "C" Champion after her wins over a couple of fine tennis players.

In the finals, Lynn defeated Pat Warren in a very close thriller. The match went the full three sets with Lynn winning the 1st match 21-18; Pat winning the 2nd match 19-21; and the final set which went into a sudden death playoff was won by Lynn 24-22.

The semi-final action saw Pat Warren defeat Barbara Lane and Lynn Weston best Patricia Radenbaugh.

Le Pacini

There has been occasional criticism about yours truly concerning the over-exposure of nostalgia, particularly baseball nostalgia. But what the heck, it is an admitted weakness, and this baseball season cannot go by without some mention of a great book for browsing, if one is a minor league fan, titled "Bush League," by Robert Obojski.

Ah, the memories . . . and the memories of legends it re-conjures. It brings back boyhood, and that, afterall, is why nostalgia will always be a powerful pastime. If one must bring back the past, it must always be boyhood, or it isn't worth bringing back. And as for the trivia . . . well, "Bush League" is the answer to the esoteric's mania.

Who stopped Joe Dimaggio's 61-game hitting streak in the PCL? It was Ed Walsh Jr. (son of the White Sox Hall of Famer), who did it to Joe on July 26, 1933, holding Dimag hitless in five trips. Dimaggio, just 18, hit .405 during the streak.

Who invented Ladies' Day? Charles Abner Powell, player-manager of New Orleans of the old Southern League in 1887. He also dreamed up the rain check.

Who was the first professional baseball player? Alfred J. Reach, a left-handed second baseman of the legendary first professional baseball team — the Cincinnati Red Stockings — who was sold by the Brooklyn Atlantics to the Philadelphia Athletics in 1864 (the first player transaction in history), and put on a salary of $25 a week. Reach was the [illegible] who left the rich the sporting goods business.

What was the longest game in organized baseball? It, too, happened in the minors. Two Florida State League teams played 29 innings at Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg the night of June 14, 1966. The visiting Miami Marlins scored a 4-3 win over the St. Pete Cardinals in 6 hours, 59 minutes.

Which team first flew? It was the Hollywood Stars, on July 15, 1928.

Who holds the organized baseball records for most games won in relief in one season, and most consecutive games won in relief, one season? Why, the memory of that is like yesterday. Lefty Leo Kiely did it for the last team to ever play minor league baseball in San Francisco.

That would be the Seals of 1957, who finished in a blaze of glory before the Giants came to town, winning a pennant. Kiely was a 20-game winner that year in relief and won 14 of 'em in a row. Kiely, you may remember, was a Boston Red Sox refugee, one of those many the Red Sox furnished the Seals that year as part of a working agreement.

AND THE HEROES, oh yes, the heroes. There was Arnold "Jigger" Statz, called by many the greatest defensive outfielder of his time, major or minor leaguer.

He played for the PCL Angels for 18 years and holds virtually all the league's important service, batting and defensive records: games played (2,790), bats (10,657), hits (3,356), doubles (595), triples (137), runs (1,996), singles (2,482), total bases (4,283), chances accepted (6,899), putouts (6,642), assists (257) and, believe it or not, others. Statz also played in 683 major league games over an eight year period and didn't retire until he was 45.

He participated in more class AA and major league games (3,473) than any pro player in history. And he wasted three years playing college ball for Holy Cross! His lifetime big league batting average, incidentally, was .285.

And then there were Frank Shellenback and Herm Pillette, a pair of incredible PCL pitchers. Shellenback won 295 games in the Coast League (only 178 losses, for a .624 pct.), 31 games in other high minor leagues, and 11 games in the majors, for a total of 326.

Pillette pitched in the PCL for seven teams over a period of 23 years and retired just a few months short of his 48th birthday. He spent a total of 30 years as an active player.

Eddie Mulligan, who still resides in Millbrae and just last year resigned as president of the California League, played for a record number eight teams in the PCL; and a right fielder for Vernon named Pete Schneider had to have the greatest power hitting day ever enjoyed by a player in organized baseball.

It happened against Salt Lake City on May 11, 1923. All he did was set six league records by: getting to bat eight times in a nine-inning game, scoring six runs, hitting five homers (two with the bases loaded), driving in 14 runs, and hitting for 22 total bases. He tied a record for most homers in one inning (2), and hit a double off the wall just inches from the top of the fence on his last time at bat.

Has there ever been a better minor league outfield than that one which played for the Seals in 1928? From left to right, it read Smead Jolley, Earl Averill and Roy Johnson. Jolley hit .404 with 309 hits; Averill .354 and 270 hits; Johnson. 360 on 234 hits!

Lefty O'Doul had 19 hits in four consecutive games, and 16 hits in three straight in 1925.

Joe Hauser was only 5-ft. 10½-in. and weighed just 180 pounds, yet he was the greatest homerun hitter in minor league history. In consecutive years, from 1930-33, though past his 30th birthday (a good major league career had been cut short by a broken kneecap), the southpaw swinging first baseman hit 63, 31, 49 and 69 homeruns in the high minors. In a seven year stretch, he busted 302 homers and drove in 860 runs. His final minor league homer total was 399, a minor league record.

OF COURSE, minor league homerun hitting can't be discussed without mentioning Joe Bauman, who hit an organized baseball record number of round trippers in 1954 for Rosewell in the class C Longhorn League — 72! Bauman also hit .400 that season, and drove in 224 runs, scoring 188. And all in just 138 games! His slugging average was .916, which dwarfs the highest slugging average ever compiled in the majors by Babe Ruth, which was a mere .847. Bauman, a lefty hitting first baseman, also walked 150 times that year. While in the low minors Bauman also had seasons when he hit 53, 50, 48 and 46 homers.

But probably no minor leaguer — particularly a high minor league player — ever compiled the awesome batting statistics of Ike Boon, another former San Francisco player (Missions).

The lefty-hitting outfielder led three minor leagues in batting five times, including averages of .448, .407, .402 (all in the PCL and in consecutive seasons) and .389. The year he hit .448, he played only 83 games, because he was called up by Brooklyn in mid-season, which probably deprived him of breaking every single season record in PCL history.

Nonetheless, in that half season he collected 139 hits, 22 homers, 96 RBI and 76 runs scored. The year he hit .407, he had .323 hits, 49 doubles, 9 triples, 55 homeruns, 218 RBI and 195 runs. He had 555 total bases.

ANOTHER FABULOUS MINOR as well as major leaguer was Lefty Grove. Throw his minor league records in with his big league slate (300 wins), and he had an organized ball record of 412-179, for a percentage of .696 over a period of 22 years!

And finally, a note of historic irony. In the years 1885-86, San Francisco supported six professional baseball teams!

Bells Thump Regents

SANTA CLARA — Serramonte High's football team took its first loss of the season Saturday night, a 61-7 rout at the hands of powerful Bellarmine at Wilcox High in Santa Clara.

Serramonte finished its non-league schedule with a 2-1 record. Bellarmine is 4-0.

Kern Herbert's long return on the opening kickoff set up the Regents deep in Bellarmine territory, but an interception killed the threat. Marc Rebboah, Bellarmine's blue-chip tailback, then got the Bells rolling with an 82-yard TD run.

Serramonte's touchdown came on a second-quarter 13-yard screen pass from Dan Lara to Ron Gibson.

Bellarmine racked up 444 yards total offense (369 rushing) to Serramonte's 56 (minus 21 yards rushing). Rebboah had 182 yards on just seven carries with three TDs.

NBA Hotshot Contest Comes to the Coast

The Pepsi-Cola NBA Hotshot Contest has finally arrived at Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department.

The contest will be held Oct. 8 at Ortega, Pedro Valley, Pacific Manor and Westview Community Centers from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Boys and girls from 9 to 18 are eligible to enter.

Entry forms are available at local community centers. No entry fee is required but the entry form must be returned to the community center leader.

Bachtold Grabs Nine Passes

A 21-14 CSM Triumph

It could have been, should have been, a wide receiver's nightmare.

College of San Mateo sophomore Paul Bachtold was shoved, tripped, clotheslined, double-covered and outrun. They took away his long patterns and they took away his short patterns.

And yet when Laney's defense had taken its best shot Friday night in Oakland, Bachtold still came out the winner — and CSM rallied for a 21-14 win in the toughest game of what is still a perfect Bulldog season.

"I was shocked," said Bachtold. "They've got the best defensive backs I've ever faced. They were doubling me deep every time. I couldn't beat them deep. They were quick, and they hit like hell."

But Bachtold stung the Eagles again and again, hauling in nine Randy Gomez passes for 132 yards and two touchdowns.

Twice in the second half, after CSM had fallen behind 14-6 and it seemed like that unbeaten record was in dire jeopardy, it was Bachtold who curled, slanted, forced his way open between the not-too-gentle Eagle defenders.

Early in the fourth quarter Laney coach Forrest Klein made a serious tactical error — and it was the beginning of the end. The Eagles, sitting on an eight-point lead, decided on fourth-and-one at their own 45 to go fot it. Star Eagle back J.J. Johnson was buried for no gain by CSM's nine-man front wall.

Gomez was sacked — one of the few times the stalwart Bulldog offensive line broke down — for a loss of eight. But Gomez hit back Bill Ring for eight on a screen pass and then threw over the middle to Bachtold, who made a leaping catch for a 14-yard gain.

One play and two penalties later, Gomez fired a 29-yard scoring pass to Bachtold, who beat double coverage, zigged to the left and slid across the slick turf into the end zone. Seconds later Bachtold made a spectacular leaping catch of the two-point conversion pass in the left corner of the end zone — the same spot where he had grabbed a 27-yard pass earlier for CSM's initial touchdown.

With the score tied 14-14 and time slowly ticking away, CSM's defense, which had been spotty, became downright miserly.

Leo Gradinger stopped Johnson after a short gain. Lineman Ken Svozil decked Eagle quarterback Elliott Stevenson, forcing an incompletion. Svozil and big Rich Miller nailed Johnson for a loss of three, and Laney was forced to punt.

CSM got the ball at its own 40 with 5:50 remaining; with one small exception it was either Ring running or Gomez passing on the next 12 plays.

Bachtold caught two key passes on short patterns. John O'Leary, the other wide receiver, caught another. And the final strike went to O'Leary, who crossed to the left (while a defender made a vain leap to the right), grabbed the pass, and zigged quickly by himself into the end zone with only 1:20 remaining on the clock.

O'Leary had enjoyed almost as fine a night as Bachtold, catching eight passes for 92 yards.

After a slow start in the first half, Gomez warmed up and finished with 21 completions in 40 attempts for 238 yards and three TDs. In four games Gomez has thrown for 935 yards and 13 scores.

"I knew we could pass against them," said Gomez. "If we had to, we could have passed against them all night. On our first drive of the game, I threw an interception — that was stupid, I should have thrown the ball away — and we turned the ball over a few times, but I never thought we wouldn't be able to pull it out."

"I wasn't running my usual patterns at first," said Bachtold. "They took them away. We made some adjustments at halftime."

Gomez got fine protection — and one of the biggest protectors was a new face, that of 6-3, 255-pound Robin Greene, a transfer from San Francisco State who had played for Serramonte a couple of years ago. Greene had showed up for practice two weeks ago, and coaches thought he wouldn't be ready for the Laney game — but he was, and shows promise.

Defensively, CSM had some problems. They let Johnson, the Golden Gate Conference's leading rusher, outside for 91 yards. Laney crossed up the Bulldogs' defensive plans. And CSM had trouble getting any inside pass rush.

"They were double teaming me," said Miller, the 6-5, 245-pound giant of the CSM defensive front. "And I missed a couple of assignments. I got snookered inside. The wet field really bothered me. I was really conscious of trying to keep my footing, and keeping the outside containment."

John Minahan, who came up with some fine efforts late in the game, wasn't bothered by the footing. But, he said, "I was bothered by their size. They were huge up there. The main problem, though, was that I don't think we were up for the game."

CSM is now 4-0 overall and 2-0 in the Golden Gate Conference, tied for the lead with City College of San Francisco (a team which, ironically, had also come from behind to nip Laney, only a week before).

The Bulldogs host Foothill next Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

There was one moment of ugliness at the end of the game. Laney defensive lineman Alvin Foster was severely disappointed after CSM's last touchdown and after Gomez had finally run out the clock by stepping back five yards and quickly dropping to his knees, Foster saw red.

Gomez offered Foster his hand and Foster offered Gomez his helmet in a less friendly manner. But a serious confrontation was avoided.

The department will be sponsoring a roller skating trip for third and sixth graders Oct. 16.

A bus will pick the children up at their local community center at 12:30 p.m., transport them to the San Mateo and return them to the community centers at 5 p.m. The cost is $3 per child.

Pick up your registration form from your community center leader.

Serra JVs Still Perfect

Walter Lopez scored three touchdowns to key the unbeaten, unscored-upon Serra High JV football team to a 21-0 win over host South San Francisco Saturday.

Lopez caught TD tosses of 34 and 46 yards and returned a punt 83 yards for a third score. He caught four passes in all from QB Bill Chalkley for 101 yards.

Serra is now 4-0 going into next week's West Catholic Athletic League opener against St. Francis Saturday morning at 11 at Serra.

Bowlers Report Winners

Grand Knight Bud Capurro announced the results of the recent Kings, Queens, and Juniors Bowling Tournament recently held at Serra Bowl and sponsored by Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus.

The results are as follows: Scratch: Men's — Walt Fuller, 481; Women's — Virginia Carr, 370; Intermediate — Giles Hulsmann, 482, and Junior — Susie Fuller, 355.

Handicap: Men's — Tom Cala, 567; Women's — Virginia Rusting, 521; Intermediate — Charlie Hartig, 559; and Junior — Matt O'Connell, 552.

Good Sport Award went to Mary Tschirgi.

In addition, a council trophy was presented to George Hartig, for having the highest scratch score, 453, of a council member participating in the tournament.

Riordan Stops the Vikes Cold

SAN FRANCISCO — Mills High's football team will enter next week's Mid-Peninsula League season opener against Crestmoor with a fairly solid defense — and an offense hungry for points.

The Vikings, who have tallied nine points in three games, dropped a 13-0 non-league decision to Riordan Friday. The Vikes are now 1-2.

They played under somewhat trying circumstances. The game had originally been scheduled for San Mateo High's field, but a district edict (supposedly meant to save soggy local turf) forced transfer of the game to Riordan's gridiron, which was a little musty from neglect.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Mills | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Riordan | 7 | 0 | 0 | 6 | 13 |

Scoring: R—Josephs 2 run (Hipp kick); Klunis 45 interception return (kick failed).

Coalition Invites School Candidates to Tell Views

A South San Francisco Teacher-Taxpayer Coalition is inviting applicants for the position of school superintendent to appear at a meeting Oct. 21 to explain their views on education and plans for change.

Coalition members Ruth Fee said they are protesting what they believe is secrecy in the manner by which the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees is replacing Dr. Paul Nielsen.

"Any point that we can make to show how secretly this is done is important," Mrs. Fee admitted.

Whether any of the prospective candidates is willing to air his views at a public meeting remains to be seen, Mrs. Fee admitted.

The list of applicants has not been publicized, although Acting Supt. Tom Gaffney has said he is seeking the $38,000 a year job.

Mrs. Fee and her husband Thomas are specifically protesting the trustees' appointment of certain individuals to a Community Advisory Committee to aid in the selection.

Fee criticized this last week the board's selection of two district employes as two of the four representatives-at-large on the committee.

The board selected Dr. [illegible] of pupil personnel services, and Frank Derfield, a teacher. Also appointed were Lawrence Coleman and Sue Monterrosa, both parents.

Fee contends the representative-at-large spot was intended exclusively for parents and taxpayers. District personnel were represented elsewhere in the committee, he said.

"This is so obviously stacked I don't know if there can ever be any objectivity," Mrs. Fee said. "It's high time they (the board) were taken to task for this kind of thing."

One trustee pointed out during the meeting that Fee was an unsuccessful applicant for one of the four at-large spots.

Board President Tom Hankle said Levine and Derfield also are parents who live in South San Francisco.

The board, he said, was fair in its secret-ballot selection process.

"Their tax dollars are just as good as Mrs. Fee's," Hankle said.

He said he was disappointed only eight residents submitted applications for the four openings.

The selection process has not been secretive, he said, and every step has been discussed in public.

The board also confirmed the appointment of individuals nominated by school committees and associations.

Included are Jean Altizio, secondary education; Joe Bernal, vocational education; Rosemary Dalton, multicultural education; Elmon Elmore, affirmative action; Doug Leone, Classroom Teachers Association; Richard Zarro, Association of Administrators; Moyna Millo, California School Employes Assocation.

Also named were Parent-Teacher Association representative Catherine Burns, elementary; Nick Fesunson, junior high school; Carolyn Anderson, high school; and two student representatives, Asa Hilliard and Colleen Harley.

Property Appraisal Going On

The San Mateo County Assessor's Office is in the process of reappraising residential property in several areas of the county for the 1977-78 assessment roll, and homeowners should anticipate a substantial increase in assessed values, County Assessor Jack Estes said today.

During the past year, reappraisal efforts were concentrated on commercial and industrial properties at the request of the Board of Supervisors, with 95 per cent of the residential property being excluded.

Estes said about one-half of the residential property in the county will be reappraised. It will have been at least two years, and in some areas three years, since residential properties will have been reviewed.

Reappraisals in Brisbane, Daly City and Pacifica are virtually completed, with reviews still underway in San Mateo, Hillsborough, Menlo Park, East Palo Alto, Woodside and Portola Valley.

Estes said the county's remaining residential property will be reappraised next year.

The assessor said that notices reflecting the new values of property currently being reappraised will be mailed to homeowners in April and May of next year.

Assessed valuations are calculated at one-fourth of the estimated full value of the individual property, as required by state law. The values are derived from study and analysis of residential property sales in the area.

Hypertension Clinic to Open

A new hypertension clinic offering free services to San Mateo County residents begins operation Monday at Chope Community Hospital in San Mateo.

Recently approved by the County Board of Supervisors, the clinic will provide services to persons who suffer from hypertension and need to have their blood pressure monitored on a frequent basis.

The hypertension service will be available each Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Chope Hospital Outpatient Clinic, 222 W. 38th Ave.

Combined With Spices

It's Apple Time

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

The produce departments of the markets are heaped with beautiful apples at a moderate cost. An irresistable set of circumstances you will agree. So now let us consider a good way to make use of this bargain.

This dessert combines apples and spices, which, as they bake, will fill your kitchen with a lovely spicy fragrance. The result of your mixing and fixing and baking will be a tasty and unusual apple dumpling.

APPLE DUMPLINGS

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 Tablespoons brown sugar
3 tart apples, chopped

Sift together the two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt. Cut the two tablespoons butter into the sifted ingredients. Add the three-fourths cup milk and blend into dough. Place on a floured board and roll into a rectangle about 10x12-inches and about ½-inch thick. Melt two tablespoons butter and brush over top of dough. Sprinkle with the combined one teaspoon cinnamon and two tablespoons brown sugar.

Pare the three apples and chop very finely and spread over the dough. Roll up the dough, as you would a jelly roll and cut into 12 equal slices. Place the slices, cut side down, in a buttered pan 9x13-inches. Pour sauce over dumplings and bake in 400-degree oven about 30 minutes or until nicely browned.

DUMPLING SAUCE

1 cup sugar
1 Tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 Tablespoon butter
½ lemon, sliced
1 cup hot water

Mix the one cup sugar with the one tablespoon flour and one-half teaspoon salt. Add the one tablespoon butter, one-half lemon, sliced very thinly and the one cup hot water. Stir until well mixed. Cook three minutes and pour over unbaked dumplings.

These dumplings are delicious for dinner, served just as they are, or topped with a bit of whipped cream. And if there are any left-over, they are tasty breakfast rolls How's that for a double duty dessert?

Sutro School Reunion

Did you go to Sutro School in San Francisco's Richmond district?

Caro Jacobs Jr. and other alumni are looking around the Peninsula for hundreds of Sutro grads to invite them to a "first-and-last" reunion.

The affair Oct. 15 at 6 p.m. at the school, 242 Funston Ave., is planned before the 67-year old structure is razed. It will be supplanted by a new quake-proof school now nearly completed in the present playyard.

One of the first to accept Jacobs' invitation was a Hillsborough resident who first displayed his oratorical talents as a second grader at Sutro. He's now Attorney Marvin Lewis

Director of USO Lounge Resigns

Judy Brooks, director of the United Services Organization Lounge at San Francisco International Airport for less than a year, has resigned.

She said she has resigned the local directorship "for personal reasons and to take my first vacation in years," but might resume working for USO at another post later.

Meanwhile, she said, she plans to spend several months in Tucson with her family.

If the tentative USO future does not work out, she said, she plans to go into convention work.

Her position here will be filled by Barbara Mellin, a former junior volunteer at the Airport USO and for several years a professional USO employe in Bay Area assignments.

Miss Brooks said she had resigned effective Sept. 26, but had been working extra days voluntarily to assist the change-over. She left today.

She said she had special thanks for the cooperation she has received from airport officials and USO volunteers during the past year.

Saturday night, the volunteers and the military aides she worked with held a goodbye dinner for her at the Presidio of San Francisco.

"It was a beautiful party," she said, "typical of my stay here. The cooperation I've received has been fantastic. Every feeler I've put out has brought a positive response."

Use of Prop. 2 Funds

Should Proposition 2, the State, Urban and Coastal Park Bond Act, be approved by the voters in the Nov. 2 general election, San Mateo County stands to receive an allocation of $2,086,965 for local park and recreation purposes.

The county allocation would be in addition to any amount of the $280 million bond funds which the state might spend in the county, according to Bob Meyers, publicist for Californians for Beaches, Parks and Wildlife.

The County Board of Supervisors will receive official notification of the county's share of the bond funds Tuesday in a report from the Parks and Recreation Department recommending board endorsement of Prop. 2.

Meyers explained that the bond act requires that representatives of all of the park and recreation agencies in the county convene to establish a priority plan for spending the money. A majority of the agencies representing at least 50 per cent of the county's population must approve the priority plan, which then would be submitted to the Board of Supervisors before going to the state for final approval.

Meyers said the county's allocation, or a portion of it, could be used as matching funds in applying for 50 per cent federal grants for park and recreation purposes.

Noting the concern expressed recently by San Mateo County Coastside residents because the 2,700-acre Purisima Ranch south of Half Moon Bay is on the "pick list" for acquisition by the state Department of Parks and Beaches, Meyers said the acquisition is by no means a foregone conclusion.

Meyers predicted there would be "little chance" for acquisition to proceed if it is opposed by the Board of Supervisors. He said it would take a two-thirds vote of the legislature to authorize the purchase.

"If there is no local support, you can't convince the local legislative representatives to support it," Meyers said. "I'm sure the county and the Department of Parks and Beaches can discuss it."

Man in Underbrush Carries Sharp Spear

Burlingame Police Officer Ron Reed was driving down a dark street Thursday night when he saw - or thought he saw - a nearly naked man sneaking through the bushes.

Officer Reed pulled over and asked what was going on.

The man turned and waved a forbidding native spear, complete with decorative feathers and sharpened spearhead.

Reed radioed for aid.

Other officers assisted in catching the man, who was wearing only his undershorts. They took him to a local hospital for examination.

Reform Views Asked

San Mateo County property owners wants to hear from their state legislators "what they are going to fight for" in property tax reform.

That, says County Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr., is the reason he originated the proposal to hold a "summit conference" on the matter next month.

The Board of Supervisors agreed this week to sponsor and support the conference, which will include representation from county and city officials, the county's state legislators, school districts and homeowner and taxpayer groups.

"It will be a wonderful opportunity for the legislators and the taxpayers to come to terms," Bacciocco predicted.

The supervisor said, "It is imperative to understand that citizens want relief and not rebellion."

Bacciocco stated that he personally spokes to leaders of 15 homeowner and taxpayer groups before suggesting the conference.

The leaders were unanimous in asserting their willingness to support their state representatives on property tax reform in 1977, the superior said — "legislation that will allow them to keep their most precious possessions, their homes."

Bacciocco said that, "All the citizen leaders want is for once to sit down with all their legislators to be educated and reassured that helps is on its way."

On the other hand, he added, "legislators will realize the opportunity to explain what they have planned to extricate their constituents from the jaws of property tax inequities."

Bacciocco is hopeful that a mutual agreement on property tax reform can "galvanize momentum and set the precedent for successful statewide reform in 1977."

The supervisor sees Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco and San Mateo counties, speaker of the Assembly, as the "springboard" in instituting a successful property tax reform. McCarthy has indicated he will attend the summit conference, Bacciocco said.

He stated that he expects a report on which of the some 40 remaining property tax reform bills and proposed constitutional amendments from the 1976 legislative session stand the best chance of enactment.

"I'm counting on compromise through the intercession of citizen leaders to pave the way for property tax or reform early in 1977," Bacciocco said. "The legislators have an idea which bills will be the most effective, fair and acceptable statewide, because this has to be a statewide solution."

No date has been set for the conference, but Bacciocco is opting for an evening session Nov. 11, 17 or 30, perhaps at the College of San Mateo.

He has requested representatives of participants to make their preference known by Oct. 15.

Somebody's Got Their Goat?

Has anyone seen a goat who lists to port?

If you have, law enforcement officials in San Mateo County would like to know.

Tommie, a four-month-old Nubian nannygoat, is missing from a 4-H club's compound behind the John F. Kennedy School in Daly City.

The alert went out Thursday.

According to the message from the county sheriff's department, "Do not approach the animal at too fast a pace as Tommie may become excited and attack you."

It also noted that the goat tilts to the left because it usually grazes on the side of a hill.

Tommie is a show goat owned by the 4-H'ers.

The beast has been missing since Sept. 19.

Pumpkin Plans Fill Fall Air

Five hundred pumpkins and five hundred kids, prizes and parades and pictures, all are part of a plan for Pumpkin Parade Sunday on Burlingame's Broadway Oct. 31.

Members of the Broadway Merchants Association met Wednesday at Mayven Lane cafe to complete plans for the event, which offers prizes for winning pumpkin decorators and best costumes, plus free photos for all young contestants.

Working with the Burlingame Elementary School District, the merchants plan to obtain 500 pumpkins to distribute to local schools at mid-month.

A week before Pumpkin Parade Sunday, the pumpkins will be gathered up and put on display in store windows.

Entry will be open to any youngster from kindergarten through sixth grade, according to Al Kaufmann, general chairman of the merchants' committee.

Prizes in both costume competition and pumpkin decorating will be offered in three age categories: under 8, 8 through 12 and over 12.

In addition, the committee is considering special awards to winners of a pumpkin pie-baking contest designed to involve mothers in the big project.

As added inducement, Kaufmann is planning to set up a parking lot photo studio to take pictures of every youngster who enters the event, and to provide each with a free copy of the portrait.

Merchants have arranged with the city to close the street for two hours during the afternoon, time enough, they say, for a parade of goblins, witches and other Halloween characters.

SSF Council Sets Manager Interviews

The first of two meetings to interview the top nine candidates for the position of South San Francisco city manager will be held Saturday by the City Council.

Mayor Leo Padreddii said the council will interview four candadates this Saturday and five the following Saturday.

Law Provides Additional Protection on Car Purchase

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has signed a consumer protection bill involving new automobiles.

The bill, AB3456, authored by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, provides additional protection for new car buyers who sign purchase orders.

Under Arnett's legislation, the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act of 1962 is now amended to give the same protection to purchase orders that the act currently gives to consumers who sign conditional sale contracts.

The bill provides new remedies under special circumstances for the injured buyer when the dealer has sold the buyer's trade-in auto and then refuses to deliver the newly bought auto.

Colina Might Recover

The Colina Condominiums, plagued with financial problems and public criticism for two years, may be on the road to recovery.

The San Francisco Planning Commission Tuesday night heard a report that a full-force sales campaign initiated in August has been successful.

The commission gave Grubb and Ellis Realty a 60-day extension on a use permit for large freestanding identification signs to promote the sales campaign, even though the firm had requested only 30 days.

Chairman Wesley Salde, who previously was one of the commission's most vocal critics of Colina, praised the firm for recent landscaping improvements.

Colina, situated on a Westborough hillside just west of Highway 280, has been dormant since 1974. It originally was conceived as a 435-unit apartment complex. Then investments collapsed, the 92 units already constructed were turned into condominiums.

Colina's financiers were unable to close escrow on any of those units until August.

However, city officials have been most critical of the appearance of cement foundations where 53 additional units were going to be constructed before the financing fell through.

Commissioners in the past have chided Colina for its alleged lack of cooperation with the city and for its failure to do anything with the unsightly foundations.

Grubb and Ellis representatives Bill Hilfrich said Tuesday night that 667 persons have toured the condominium complex since August and 19 new contracts have been signed.

Before the sales campaign started, 24 units were occupied but when the occupants learned that escrow would be closed — at long last — 16 of those dropped out.

Hilfrich said 196 persons who visited the complex since August said in a survey they were drawn there by the signs.

He said the signs have contributed about $400,000 in new sales.

Hilfrich also said that Colina's lending company is satisfied with the sales and is considering building new units on "the ugly pads."

However, Hilfrich added that Colina hit another snag recently and has been unable to close escrow on contracts signed since the August sales campaign began. Hilfrich said the problem was with the title company and should be alleviated soon.

In the meantime, reservations to purchase condominiums are being accepted, he said.

Grubb and Ellis originally asked for the identification signs in 1975 to promote sales. The permit expired on Jan. 10.

However, during that time, financial problems allowed the sale of only one unit.

Chamber Music Season Told

The San Francisco Chamber Music Society continues its series of concerts featuring the best of the Bay Area's performing talent with a new season of six Monday evening concerts in the Fireman's Fund Forum, 3333 California St.

Opening this fifteenth season for the Chamber Music Society on Oct. 25 will be the piano-cello duo of Adolph Baller and Gabor Rejto. They will perform sonatas by Beethoven, Martinu, Debussy and Brahms in their first San Francisco appearance since their triumphant Bay Area tour last spring.

Nov. 15, the Chamber Music Society presents a retrospective of avant garde music composed in and around San Francisco during the last 10 years. This rare program will be directed by Robert Hughes and feature works of widely varying style and instrumentation by no less than eight locally prominent composers.

Music of France is the title of the third concert, on Jan. 10. The program features pianist Janet Guggenheim; Laurie McGaw, trumpet; Donald Carroll, woodwinds and Robert Sayre, cello, performing works by such French masters as Ravel, Poulenc, and Vincent D'Indy. Unusual in this concert will be chamber works for trumpet and saxophone.

One of the season's highlights will occur on March 7, when San Francisco Symphony conductor Edo de Waart conducts 15 musicians in the Kammersinfonie for string quintet and double woodwind group by Stravinski. Also on the program that night will be a performance of Mozart's Duo No. 1 in G Major by Symphony concertmaster Suart Canin and Geraldine Lamboley, the Symphony's new first violist.

March 28, baritone William Parker offers a lieder recital of songs by Schubert and Poulenc. This will be the only Chamber Music Society concert of the season to draw on musicians from outside the Bay Area.

The San Francisco Trio will close the season on April 18, with a performance of works by Schumann, Mendelssohn and Beethoven. They will also perform the world premiere of a new Trio by Berkeley composer Olly Wilson, commissioned by the Society under its Norman Fromm Composer's Award. The award is given each season to an outstanding local composer.

Silversmith Exhibit At Pacifica Gallery

A metal, gem and silversmith exhibit is currently on view at the Periwinkle Art Gallery, 1227 Danmann Ave., Pedro Point, Pacifica. It continues through the month.

A reception was held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The exhibit is shared by Pacifica metal sculptor Robert Hulsebus and former Pacificans Mike and Mimi Haggerty.

Hulsebus will display large, free-form and circular wall hangings and striking oriental-looking banners.

Hulsebus incises quarter-inch steel circles with copper-coated carbon electrodes and compressed air, leaving a raised design on a pitted surface. Several plates are used to make colored rubbings on rice paper and cloth.

The Haggertys opened Piney Hollow Silverworks in Tucson, Ariz. four years ago and have exhibited in the Tucson Gem and Mineral Show and at the International Crafts Fair in Manhattan.

Dressmaking Course Open

A daytime dressmaking course is now offered at the Daly City Recreation Center, 134 Hillside Blvd., from 9 a.m. to noon on Thursdays. It is sponsored by the Jefferson Union High School District's Adult Division.

The course is designed to teach a variety of sewing skills and will include individual instruction for the beginner.

Registration is being taken in class. The cost is $4.
